LOST IN A REVERIE

If there's any space that perfectly showcases how reality can sometimes be better than a daydream, it's The Reverie Saigon. The exclusive hotel is home to the crème de la crème of society, not surprising, as a one night stay in the beautifully decorated, highly-lauded Saigon Suite will set you back a whopping $12,000 (RMxxx). The spend is more than worth it if it's an experience you're after; the 2,981 sq ft space occupies the two top floors of the hotel (38th and 39th floors), and is clad in a grandiose, over-the-top appeal that speaks volumes of luxury and decadence. The work of two Italian leading design houses - Cassina and Poltrona Frau - the suite's interiors and decorations echo elegance and craftsmanship. Cassina's touch is palpable in a bedroom of their design, where Le Courbusier's iconic lounge chair takes pride of place before a window - an artistic perch upon which one might settle to drink in the sights of the city. Poltrona Frau's bedroom parlour, however, evokes a sense of the good old days, with a classic trunk repurposed as a mini bar to fuel the imagination.
